"Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal."

Not everyone has the privilege of meeting and knowing a person who possesses the qualities of character found in Miss Betty M. Brooks. With a willingness to help and a concern for everyone's welfare, Miss Brooks has become a model for the students of Glen Alpine High School. Her efforts to "make the better best" have influenced our lives and thus, encourage us to become worthwhile in all phases and realms of life. Her unselfish devotion and support of the band and glee club are greatly appreciated by all. For integrity, intelligence, nobility of character, and a deep religious faith, the annual staff of 1965 proudly dedicates this XVIII edition of the Turkey Tail to . . . .

Starting Players

VICTOR SCOTT No. 82 Moving from backfield to the split end, Victor was the team's top pass receiver. Excellent speed was his asset.

HAL WILLIAMS No. 73 Being long and rangey with good lateral movement, Hal was a fine tackle on offense and defense.

BO TAYLOR No. 70 Bo was a real "fire eater". He kept the team fired up with constant chatter.

TIM ABERNATHY No. 51 Tim was a fine line backer and one of the finest extra point men in the state.

PAUL PATTON No. 60 Paul was a real strong compact guard. He should be the best in the league next year.

RICHARD MODE No. 71 Richard was a fine tackle who didn't mind hard work. He should be great next year.

GARY CAUSBY No. 31 Gary is the type of boy all coaches like to have. He was a fine guard, end, and defensive line backer.

TONY WOOD No. 40 Tony is a real fine complete football player with great ability on offense and defense.

STEVE BLACK No. 10 Steve is one of the main reasons for Glen Alpine's fine season. He proved to be a great leader and quarterback.

STEVE WATSON No. 30 Steve is small compared to most fullbacks, but great speed and agility made him a fine fullback.

PHILIP VANCE No. 21 Philip was great on defense and a fine punt return man. He was our number two pass receiver.

Last Will and Testament

I, Mac Pingel, leave my red ears to Richard Mode.
I, Fred Costner, leave my brain to Science if they can find one.
I, Lynn Pitts, leave my headaches as editor of the annual to Libby Clontz.
I, Joan Crawley, leave my keen intellect to Kathy Grey.
I, Wayne Duckworth, leave my hats and gloves to the Bolshevic relief fund.
I, Gary Causby, leave my old girl friends to Eddie Simpson.
I, Carolyn Poteat, leave my smile to grace these halls forever.
I, Laura Hyatt, leave my title as Homecoming Queen to some lucky girl.
I, Donald Epley, leave my Red Chevy to anyone that wants it.
I, Jo Lynn Franklin, leave to find a boy at Valdese.
I, Kenny Head, leave my kick-up to Johnny Burnette.
I, Margie Gwyn, leave my title of May Queen to the girl lucky enough to claim it.
I, Gary Martin, leave my neatness to Mike Smith.
I, Mary Ruth Deaton, leave my jolly laugh to Ruth Powell.
I, Joe Scott, leave Mr. Young a much happier man.
I, Leland Sisk, leave my "greasy kid's stuff" to Gene Edwards.
I, Boyd Powell, leave my sense of humor to Wesley Reep.
I, Steve Watson, leave my ability to make all-conference to next year's fullback.
I, Richard Herman, just leave (I hope).
I, Roby Wilson, leave (everyone hopes).
I, Pat Fowler, leave my Miss G. A. Crown to next year's beauty.
I, Nancy Edwards, leave to become a homemaker.
I, Wanda Dale, leave my shyness to Carolyn White.
I, Betty Epley, leave my library cards to Brenda Buchanan.
I, Linda Williams, leave my ability to get married and keep it a secret to anyone else who can.
I, Linda Stillwell, leave my flashing smile to Shirley McCurry.
I, Elaine White, leave my Chevy II to Harriet Williams.
I, Sylvia Reep, leave my long hair to Rindy Procter.
I, Patsy Propst, leave my happy married life to Wanda Mull.
I, Linda McGee, leave my love for the Army to Nancy Greene.
I, Glenda Lane, leave my pretty blue eyes to Beverly Branch.
I, Redith Lowman, leave my ability to go from Sophomore to Senior in one year to anyone lucky enough to do it.
I, Wanda Presnell, leave my drive and determination to the entire Junior class.
I, Diane Baker, leave to join the Navy and to see the world.
I, Jerry Johnson, "love 'em and leave 'em."
I, Phyllis Beck, leave my peroxide to Patsy Clontz.
I, Henrietta Davis, leave my position as editor of the school paper to some lucky junior.
I, Ronnie Lane, leave my good nature to Brenda Whitner.
I, Sherry Hancock, leave to become Mrs. Jim Giles.
I, George Patton, leave my position as FFA President to the next Patton.
I, David Farris, leave my bus to anyone who can handle it.
I, Jane Patton, leave my knitting to Elizabeth Franklin.
I, Betty Hastings, leave my seat in typing class to Darlene Davis.
I, Carolyn Benfield, leave my neatness to Linda Brittain.
I, Linda Kaye Pritchard, leave school for Carmie's sake.

I, Jane Stamey, leave my flirtatious ways to Brenda "Stork" Stewart.
I, Pat Shuping, leave my business abilities to Wanda Brewer.
I, Linda Chandler, leave my hair-do's to Myra Hancock.
I, Susan Pollard, leave my position as Chief Cheerleader to another big mouth, namely Laura Scott.
I, Linda Anderson, leave to become a nurse.
I, Barbara Kelly, leave little "George" Scott behind.
I, Barbara Benfield, leave my color guard flag to Jill Beardsley.
I, Doris Flowers, leave my curly locks to Wilma Watson.
I, Steve Guimond, leave my playboy wardrobe to Stacey Scott.
I, James Patton, leave my popularity to Tony Woods.
I, Sandra Shelton, leave my sister Sheila behind.
I, Janice Johnson, leave my ability to walk to school to Eddie Simpson.
I, Mickey Milligan, leave my clear complexion to Wynn Justice.
I, David Long, leave my ability to smile when things get rough to all taking Senior English.
I, Carroll Pritchard, leave my ability to charm the girls to all the Junior boys.
I, Sam Scott, leave my arguments in class to Bo Taylor.
I, Gerry Davis, leave my job as bag boy to Glen McCurry.
I, Scottie Greer, leave my ability to lose girls to Philip Vance.
I, Tim Abernathy, leave my good name to my brother Phillip.
I, Travis Anderson, leave to hunt and fish with Mr. Arrington.
I, Alvin Baker, leave my bookkeeping workbook with a sigh of relief.
I, Candace Barrier, leave my ability to pass French to anyone daring enough to take it.
I, Steve Black, leave my cave man physique to David Powell.
I, Louise Bollinger, leave my artistic abilities to Larry Hardin.
I, Ann Bowers, leave Home Economics class to put what I've learned into practice.
I, Eddie Brittain, leave my personality to Lynn Justice.
I, Nancy Buff, leave hoping to return someday as a teacher.
I, Wayne Harris, leave my bright remarks to John McGalliard.
I, Ronnie Mulwee, leave Annelle, but not without some misgivings.
I, Patsy Childers, leave my diamond to Diane Carroll.
I, Hal Williams, leave black marks all over the roads.
I, Jewel Russ, leave my friendly smile to Kaye Norman.
I, Shirley Clark, leave my typewriter to Judy Johnson.
I, Helen Vickers, leave my quiet ways to Brenda Buchanan.
I, Raye Smawley, leave my elfish appearance to Mitzy Leonard.
I, Norma Byrd, leave my clarinet to Libby Bridges.
I, Allen Garrison, leave my curls to Paul White.
I, Jay Taylor, have nothing to leave, but I will go so everyone can be happy.
I, Philip Payne, leave my neat appearance to Gary Duckworth.
I, Johnny Bennett, leave my good natured ways to Billy Scott.

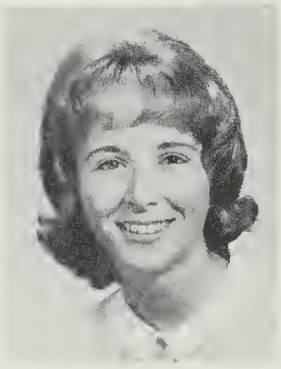
The 1965 of Glen Alpine

Senior Class

High School

Class Prophecy



Carolyn Poteet
Class Prophet

Neon lights flashing--laughter and screams of joy projecting--buildings of various sizes, shapes, and color protruding--all of this makes up the Glen Alpine World's Fair of 1985.

The president of this fabulous fair is Steve Watson, a native of G. A. As we begin our tour of the fair, we will encounter many people with whom we were once very familiar.

One of the most outstanding features of the fair is a gigantic turkey--symbolic of Glen Alpine itself. The designing and building of the turkey was engineered by Gerry Davis and James Patton. Dean Powell and Mickey Milligan, both "Wall Street Brokers," donated it to the Fair.

The Fair is featuring some of the things that G.A. is famous for. The Quarterback Club's exhibition is a gigantic football--one hundred feet in diameter. As one goes on the inside there can be seen pictures of such outstanding players as Steve Black, Gary Causby, and Jerry Johnson. These boys now have their own professional team known as the "Cheersome Threesome."

Another attraction at the Fair that is very popular with the teenagers is the Radio Station of Tomorrow--station BONG--designed by Carroll Pritchard. This station plays "popular music" twenty-four hours a day without any interruptions. The announcer is that ever-loving Malcolm Pingel. Some of the top recording artists are Nancy Buff who sings "Do the Turkey Tail Stomp"--Joan Crawley sings "The Prejudice Psychiatrist" and Ronnie Lane sings "The Lazy Man Works."

Although the fairgrounds are highly mechanized, nature itself still shines through. The upkeep of the grounds is under the supervision of George Patton, Roby Wilson, and Doug Patton.

Transportation to and about the fairgrounds is sponsored by the Happy Mackie Motoring Company owned and operated by those mechanical minded geniuses Kenneth Head, Donald Eply, and Alvin Baker.

There are also many rides to enjoy here at the Fair. They were designed by the great electronic engineer Ronnie Mulwee and built by the Spend Thrift Construction Company under the operation of Wayne Harris and Hal Williams.

The paintings and designs were done by those internationally known artists Jane Reep and Louise Bollinger. They were assisted by Linda Anderson and Diane Baker.

Accidents do happen, but the Fair has employed an efficient medical staff to control these mishaps. Dr. David Long is at the head of this department. He is ably assisted by Wanda Dale, Pat Fowler, and Mary Deaton, all very prominent nurses.

During our tour we begin to get a little hungry, so we go into a "lush" restaurant called Duckworth and Anderson's owned and operated by none other than Wayne and Travis. (Their restaurant is located where Rader's Stop and Shop was once located.) As we go in the head waiter, Tim Abernathy, escorts us to our table. Just then the lights go out and the floor show begins. The main attraction is "Little Egypt" and her attendants, featuring Lynn Pitts as "Little Egypt" and Linda Stillwell, Glenda Lane, Linda Pritchard, Sandra Shelton, and Norma Byrd as her attendants. After the floor show, the lights come back on and we recognize many of our former classmates. We see that Janice Johnson is now a secretary in one of the large business firms of New York City. Betty Hastings and Jane Patton have joint ownership in a famous beauty salon in Chicago. Johnny Bennett and Joe Scott are large stockholders in the Volkswagon Company. Diane Leaonard is in the process of writing a book entitled TEN EASY STEPS TO FINDING A DIAMOND IN A POPCORN BOX. Her advisors are Nancy Edwards and Linda Williams. Wanda Presnell has just published her book A TEENAGER'S BIGGEST PROBLEM: PARENTS. Her advisor was Jane Stamey.

That's enough gossip for now--The Fair has certainly got plenty of publicity. Allen Garrison, editor of the GLEN ALPINE HIGHLITES, (One of the largest newspaper syndicates in the country) has an efficient staff covering the Fair. Some members of his staff are Raye Smawley, social editor; Linda Chandler, foreign relations editor; Gary Martin, sports editor; and Henrietta Davis who heads the business department.

The music at the Fair is sponsored by the Little People's Symphony under the direction of Scottie Greer. Some of the symphony are Philip Payne, Sammy Scott, and Leland Sisk.

A big attraction for the girls is the building featuring Fashions of Tomorrow. Mildred Milligan, one of the most popular designers of our time, is in charge of the clothes that are being modeled. Jo Lynn Franklin and Margie Gwyn are both employed as models for Miss Milligan's designs.

There were many of our classmates that weren't able to attend the Fair this year. Laura Hyatt, who is a coach for the girls professional basketball, the "Superettes," is touring Europe. Barbara Kelly and Barbara Benfield, both members of the team, are touring with her. Steve Guimond has just won the Pulitzer Prize for his book entitled THE ZEUGMATIC ZEUGMA. Due to personal appearances throughout the country, he will be unable to attend the Fair. Elaine White is in the process of trying to join the National Guard. (She has been trying since graduation.) Patricia Shuping is so busy keeping up with what is going on in Valdese that she doesn't realize that there is even a World's Fair going on. Fred Costner, now a Captain in the army, is stationed in Vietnam. Phyllis Beck, Linda McGee, and Jewell Russ have all joined the WAC's, but they are going to try to attend the Fair. Patsy Propst and Patsy Childers are both employed at Johnson and Johnson's so they definitely won't be at the Fair. Carolyn Benfield has been voted as one of the Ten Best Dressed Women of the Year, but she refuses to attend the Fair by saying, "I haven't a thing to wear."(??) Sherry Hancock and Diane Baker are running a nursery. Doris Flowers has just returned from a trip to the moon, and feels that she has had enough excitement for awhile. Candace Barrier, Redith Lowman, and Elaine Cook went along with her as chaperones. (Wonder who chaperoned whom?)

Oh well, let's continue on with our tour of the Fair. Our last exhibition that we will enter is the Miscellaneous Building. It's name describes it completely. We see that Boyd Powell has invented a new type race car, but is having trouble in getting it on the market. It seems that Richard Herman, David Farris, and Eddie Brittain, the test drivers, are having trouble operating it. Oh well, maybe Jay Taylor, who is President of the Ford Motor Company, will come across a solution.

During our tour we could continually hear noises in the background. Our guide, Helen Vickers, told us that it was just Betty Eply, Susan Pollard, and Shirley Clark trying out a new megaphone that they are trying to put on the market.

Now the neon lights are slowly dimming as a day of the Glen Alpine World's Fair ends. We have renewed our acquaintance with many of our old classmates. Each one has boarded a gigantic farris wheel which will take them to their profession in life.

Carolyn Poteet
Class Prophet
